SUMMARY

As a passionate Front-End Developer with a solid foundation in relevant technologies, I'm confident in my ability to add value to any development team. I want to apply my skills and knowledge to a full-time role as a Front-End Developer, where I can further develop my expertise and contribute to creating outstanding digital solutions. In addition to my technical skills, my decade of experience leading teams has increased my soft skills quite well, so I think I can contribute to the success of your company.
